HEALTH OF THE CZAR.

It Is Said That He Has Suffered a Serious Relapse.

PROFESSOR LEYDEN'S CONFIDENCE.

The Distinguished German Physician Believes He Can Effect a Cure, Though the Ruler Himself Has Abandoned Hope. Cause of the Czar's Worries.

BERLIN, Oct. 12.—A member of the staff of the Russian embassy, of this city, informed the Associated Press correspondent last evening that the reason Professor Leyden was for the second time called to attend the czar was because the distinguished sufferer has suffered a relapse. This is shown in his greatly increased difficulty in breathing and in repeated periods of unconsciousness. Within the last week the czar's nervousness has grown worse so rapidly as to make him irritable, greatly lessening his chances of recovery.

The informant of the Associated Press added that, although the czar fully expects to die, he is eager for his removal to Corfu, the latter step becoming imperative if the only chance to save his life is utilized. Professor Leyden will reach Livadia tomorrow night, and will accompany the czar to Corfu, where he will remain until the crisis is over, having received six months leave of absence from the Prussian government. The distinguished German specialist persists in his rather favorable diagnosis of the czar's case, and fully believes that if left entirely in his hands he will be able to effect a cure. Professor Leyden has taken to Livadia a liberal supply of drugs, his operating tools and a new remedy, supposed to be a specific against the disease, prepared by Professor Koch, and in which Professor Koch and Professor Leyden both have much hope.

The officials of the Russian embassy have no doubt that the czar has the best chance obtainable in Professor Leyden's hands, because he is to place himself unreservedly under the orders of the German physician and has, as a preliminary, dismissed Professor Zacharin.

The reason for the czar's incessant worrying was first about the plainly approaching death of his son George, and secondly, the conduct of the czarowitz, who stubbornly refused to marry Princess Alix. The reason assigned for this refusal is the great love of the czarowitz for his mistress, a most beautiful Jewess, who seems to have so great a hold upon him that for the sake of keeping her he has offered to renounce his right of succession to the throne. But the czar will not permit this, not approving of it for family reasons. At the same time the czar fears for the welfare of Russia, and perhaps for the peace of Europe, if a regency is necessary.

These worries, Prof. Leyden asserts, constitute the greatest feature of the czar's case.

An Historical Incident Recalled.

LONDON, Oct. 12.—The Chronicle this morning says that the illness of the czar forcibly recalls the dangers connected with the last sickness of Emperor Frederick. The Prussian emperor, who was confined to bed, was attended by Professor Leyden and Professor Bismarck. There can be the paper added, only by referring to the summoning of Professor Leyden.

Seven Sailors Reported Drowned.

OSGEO, N. Y., Oct. 12.—About 500 feet last evening a vessel supposed to be the three-masted schooner Hartford went on the rocks near Woodville, thirty-five miles east of here. The place where the vessel struck over a mile from the shore is considered one of the most dangerous spots along the lake as the jagged rocks are only covered with a few feet of water. Captain O'Toole, of Clayton, the owner, and six men were on board. The heavy sea broke the vessel up, and it is reported the captain and entire crew were drowned.

To Investigate Alleged Levies.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 12.—Immediate investigation will be made by the civil service commission of the charges of the Philadelphia Press that assessments were being levied "right and left" on Philadelphia mint employees. An agent of the commission will be sent to Philadelphia within a day or two to make an investigation.

A French Stock Broker Absconds.

PARIS, Oct. 12.—Auguste Jean, a counsellor or outside stock broker, has absconded, leaving behind him liabilities amounting to 1,000,000 francs.

Knights of Maccabees.

The State Commander writes us from Lincoln, Neb., as follows: "After trying other medicines for what seemed to be a very obstinate cough in our two children we tried Dr. King's New Discovery and at the end of two days the cough entirely left them. We will not be without it hereafter as our experience proves that it cures where all other remedies fail."—Signed F. W. Stevens, State Com.—Why not give this great medicine a trial, as it is guaranteed and trial bottles are free at McMonagle and Rogers Drug Store. Regular size 50c. and $1.00.

CORBETT AND FITZSIMMONS

Agree to Fight in Jacksonville for a $41,000 Purse and $10,000 a Side.

NEW YORK, Oct. 12.—There now seems to be very little doubt that, barring accident to either man, Heavyweight Champion Jim Corbett will defend his title against Bob Fitzsimmons. Yesterday the men met in the office of a newspaper in this city, and after an hour's parleying they and their managers came to terms.

Jacksonville, Fla., will again be the scene of a fight, as the representatives of the Florida Athletic Club, Manager Charles E. Smith and Joe Vendig, succeeded in making arrangements which proved satisfactory to both pugilists, and the club can name any day after July 1, 1895, to bring the contest off.

Captain Williams of the New Orleans Auditorium Club President Scholl of the Olympic club of the same city and Joe Vendig of Jacksonville were on hand to bid for the fight. As the bids ran up Scholl finally offered $40,000, and Vendig raised it $1,000. Scholl offered $50,000, but as he was not prepared to make a deposit the men agreed to sign for Jacksonville. The club will allow $1,000 to each man for training expenses and each will train for three months prior to the fight.

Corbett put up his side bet of $10,000, saying that Fitz could cover it at his leisure.

Both men announced their willingness to sign articles of agreement, but as that would be against the laws of this state the articles will not be signed here. The articles will be similar to those signed by Corbett and Sullivan in 1892, and will be signed secretly.

A Congressional Denial.

WILKESBARRE, Pa., Oct. 12.—A local paper published a statement yesterday to the effect that a certain congressman was paid $2,000 by the Hazard Rope works, of this city, to secure a rate of tariff duty that would not injure that industry. Congressman Hines publishes a card saying that as wire rope works are located in his district the impression may go abroad that he was the recipient of the money. This he denies with much emphasis. Hines says the congressmen who were in the service of the wire rope men were Cadmus of New Jersey and Reilly of Schuylkill, but that conscientious motives prompted them. He does not think they were paid any money.

The Debates Adjourn.

READING, Pa., Oct. 12.—The East Pennsylvania conference of the United Evangelical church, composed of the adherents of Bishop Dubs, adjourned last evening. It is expected that 100 congregations will ally themselves with the new denomination. It was decided to hold the annual conference next year in Schuylkill Haven and the time for the next meeting of the general conference was fixed as the last Thursday of next November, at Napperville, Ill. It was decided to continue the relations of this conference with the general conference which met in Philadelphia in 1891.

The Freshmen Won.

EASTON, Pa., Oct. 12.—While the freshmen class of Lafayette college were grouped in front of the college for the purpose of having their pictures taken they were attacked by a mob of boys, and a lively fight ensued. One of the freshmen had everything stripped from him to his waist, and four were so badly injured that they were carried to the Easton hospital. A sophomore had an arm broken. The teachers were damaged to the amount of $70. The freshmen finally won and later had their pictures taken.

Alleged Bank Swindler Captured.

TRENTON, Oct. 12.—A man giving the name of Charles Hanson, of Chicago, is in jail here in default of bail, charged with false pretence upon three Trenton banks in making small deposits and then over-drawing his accounts. In one case the amount was $5 and in another $15. A number of bank books found in his possession indicate that he has been going about the country making a practice of this business.

Another Plot Against the Czar.

BERLIN, Oct. 12.—The correspondent of the Associated Press has been informed semi-officially that an extensive plot against the life of the czar has been discovered. It is added that this conspiracy is considered by the police to be very formidable, owing to the fact that its membership includes a large number of army officers. Many arrests, it is added, have already been made at Warsaw, Odessa and Kioff.

Shot by a Footpad.

RENO, Nev., Oct. 12.—Leo Hawcraft, 26 years old, was shot and fatally wounded by a footpad early in the evening. He was waylaid by a man with a handkerchief over his face, who demanded his money. When Hawcraft said he had no money the man pulled a pistol and Hawcraft grappled with him. The robber shot him through the breast and escaped.

Relief in One Day.

SOUTH AMERICAN NERVE relieves the worst cases of Nervous Prostration, Nervousness and Nervous Dyspepsia in a single day. No such relief and blessing has ever come to the invalids of this country. Its powers to cure the stomach are wonderful in the extreme. It always cures; it cannot fail. It radically cures all weakness of the stomach and never disappoints. Its effects are marvelous and surprising. It gladdens the hearts of the suffering and brings immediate relief. It is a luxury to take and always safe. Trial bottles 15 cents. Sold by J. E. Mills, Druggist, Middletown, N. Y.

THE STORM IN FLORIDA.

Great Destruction of Property, but Few Fatalities Reported.

JACKSONVILLE, Oct. 12.—Communication has been re-established with all points on the west coast visited by the storm which raged Monday night and Tuesday morning, and reports to The Times-Union tell woeful tales of the destruction caused by the wind and water.

At Cedar Key the main business street is piled from one end to the other with debris, consisting of wreckage from boats, wharves, fish houses and logs of every description. The damage and loss of property is very great. The city hall has the roof blown off and one entire side knocked out by logs. The city jail cannot be found. The five bridges to the shell road, leading to the mainland, are washed. It is reported that five sponge vessels were ashore during the storm and were driven seven miles into the woods.

At Apalachicola two lives are reported lost. Two residences were carried a half to three-quarters of a mile and placed in the marsh near Cypress mill uninjured. All the docks were totally destroyed, houses were unroofed and fences scattered everywhere. Families sought safety on the hills, only to be routed by the terrific gale. The water is six feet deep on Water street, and some of the best stores were battered into by floating timber and shattered to destruction. The people are dismayed and an appeal for aid will be sent out.

THE WRECKS AT ST. PIERRE

The Losses Not So Heavy as at First Supposed.

ST. JOHN'S, N. F., Oct. 12.—It has been learned that all but eight of the vessels that went ashore at St. Pierre Miquelon on Tuesday night came off on the high tide. The vessels that remain stranded are the St. Julian, Mistral, Florida, El Pourant, Ali Baba, pilot boat No. 2, Jamin and Capelan. The Capelan, the last vessel that went ashore, had a crew of twenty men. It was reported that all on board of her were drowned, but it turns out that they were saved by other vessels.

The gale sprang up from the northeast at 10 o'clock Tuesday night with sudden violence. It was soon blowing with hurricane force, and so continued until day-break Wednesday. Fog horns from the distressed vessels continued blowing throughout the night. Courageous efforts to render assistance were made by the crews on board the tugboats Progress and Emile, but little aid could be given.

Some idea of the force of the gale may be formed when it is stated that every vessel that went ashore dragged from her anchorage with three anchors out. The extent of the loss and the severity of the storm was never equalled in St. Pierre.

A Point for the Republicans.

TRENTON, Oct. 12.—Justice Reed, of the supreme court, has filed an opinion in the quo warranto proceedings brought against the old Democratic board of freeholders of Camden county, which refused to vacate in favor of the new Republican board appointed in pursuance of acts of the recent legislature. The decision does not pass upon the constitutionality of the acts under which the new board was appointed, but grants the motion of counsel for the Republican board to strike out the plea made by the Democratic board in answer to the information filed. Application can be made to the court for leave to file a new plea and if refused a writ of order will issue against the Democratic board.

Davidson Talks About Peary.

AUSTIN, Minn., Oct. 12.—James W. Davidson, of the Peary expedition, declares that the mistake was in taking a woman into the Arctic region at all, and after that had been done Peary did for his wife what any man would have done under the circumstances. They had well warned quarters by themselves with a separate table, while the men had insufficient food and scant fuel. The men of the party would have done anything in the world for Mrs. Peary. He considers that they were lucky to get back at all, and as the thing is over the less said about it the better.

A Family of Incendiaries.

MASSILLON, O., Oct. 12.—The entire Reimer family, at Dalton, has been arrested, new evidence having been discovered. The members of the family are charged with conspiracy to burn the town. Great excitement prevails. Dalton was recently nearly wiped out of existence by fire, supposed to be of incendiary origin. The Reimers were suspected and arrested some time ago but owing to lack of sufficient evidence were discharged.

Arrested for Persecuting Workmen.

INDIANAPOLIS, Oct. 12.—Frank G. Darling, superintendent of the Indianapolis division of the Pennsylvania lines, was arrested last night on the dual charge of having discharged William Carroll and Jacob Walters, switchmen, for being members of the American Railway union, and with having prevented them securing employment on other lines by blacklisting them. Superintendent Darling gave bond and was released from jail.

Rebecca Wilkinson, of Brownsville, Ind., says: "I have been in a distressed condition for three years from nervousness, weakness of the stomach, dyspepsia and indigestion until my health was gone. I had been doctoring constantly with no relief. I bought one bottle of South American Nerve, which did me more good than any $50 worth of doctoring I ever did in my life. I would advise every weakly person to use this valuable and lovely medicine; a few bottles of it have cured me completely. I consider it the grandest medicine in the world." Wanted the most wonderful stomach and nerve cure ever known. Sold by J. E. Mills, Middletown, N. Y.

MANY BOILERS EXPLODE

Bringing Death to Five Men and Serious Injuries to Others.

THE CAUSE A PROFOUND MYSTERY.

The Noise of the Exploding Boilers, Thirty-six in All, Plainly Heard for a Distance of Two Miles, Resembling Peals of Thunder.

SHAMONGIN, Pa., Oct. 12.—Five men were killed, another fatally injured, and several others were painfully burned by a disastrous boiler explosion that occurred at the Henry Clay colliery yesterday. The entire steam-supplying plant of the mine, consisting of thirty-six boilers, was totally demolished, and in addition to the monetary loss, which will aggregate $30,000, the Henry Clay, Big Mountain, Sterling and Peerless collieries will be unable to resume operations for at least a month.

The explosion is the worst of its kind that has ever occurred in this region, and the cause is a mystery.

The dead are: Thomas Carr, fireman, leaves a widow and three children; William Boyle, fireman, leaves widow; William Slick, aged 18 years, died a few minutes after being found; John McLaughlin, fireman, head crushed, died two hours after the accident; Jacob J. Didiam, water boss, married, died while being taken to his home.

Peter Heck, fireman, had the side of his head crushed and suffered severe internal injuries. He cannot recover.

The report of the explosion was heard in this city, a distance of more than two miles. The terrible accident came upon the boiler house employees without warning, and only one of them, a Pole, escaped uninjured. The others were buried between the mass of ruins and some of the bodies were not recovered for two hours. The boiler on the western end of the house is supposed to have been the first to explode, and then the adjoining boilers went up in quick succession, the repeated explosions resembling the roar of heavy artillery.

One half of a boiler was hurled a full quarter of a mile and lodged in the slush bank northwest of where the boiler house formerly stood. Another that took a similar direction crashed through the side of the breaker and lodged against the scarp line. Another crashed through the tip house, and came near killing several employees.

Officers of the I. T. U.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Oct. 12.—The International Typographical union elected the following officers: President, W. B. Parsons, of Toronto, vice presidents, Theodore Perry of Nashville, Frank G. Boyle of St. Paul and Charles S. Lahn of Chicago, secretary and treasurer, A. G. Wines of St. Louis, delegates to the American Federation of Labor to be held in Denver, William Higinz of Louisville, A. McGrath of Boston and John M. Bramwood of Denver; trustees of Childs' fund, James Daily of Philadelphia, Alexander Durgall of Cincinnati, Henry E. Dorsey of Dallas and T. C. Shepard of Grand Rapids, Mich. Colorado Springs was selected as the place for holding next meeting.

The Champion Woman Traveler.

CHICAGO, Oct. 12.—Miss Jessie Ackerman, an "around the world" missionary of the Women's Christian Temperance union, arrived in Chicago yesterday, after a trip of 150,000 miles, which she claims is the longest journey ever made by a woman. She has been abroad for seven years, and her work has carried her through China, Japan, New Zealand, Australia, India, South Africa, Madagascar, Java, Singapore and the Hawaiian Islands. She has been a guest in 2,000 homes, has entertained in palaces, slept in ancient tombs, lived through the jungle fever, and as she expresses it, tied the white ribbon of the W. C. T. U. twice around the globe.

Charged With Stealing $150,000,000.

CHICAGO, Oct. 12.—Judge Erb, one of the lawyers employed by the Atchison protective reorganization committee to make a case against the late management, makes the charge that the company has been robbed of over $150,000,000, and insists that the amount has gone into the pockets of the men entrusted with the control of the property, though he does not call the persons by name nor specify the sums that found their way into individual pockets.

Populist Gains in Georgia.

ATLANTA, Oct. 12.—The formal canvass of the election returns of the legislature shows that there will be fifty Populists and three Republicans in the next assembly out of a total of 219. There are about thirty contests for seats. The total vote of the state was 215,000, the largest vote ever polled in the state. The amendment allowing the legislature to pension indigent Confederate veterans was adopted.

It May Do As Much for You.

Mr. Fred Miller, of Irving, Ill., writes that he had a severe kidney trouble for many years, with severe pains in his back and also that his bladder was affected. He tried many so called kidney cures but without any good result. About a year ago he began use of Electric Bitters and found relief at once. Electric Bitters is especially adapted to the cure of all kidney and liver troubles and often gives almost instant relief. One trial will prove our statement. Prices only 50c. for large bottle at McMonagle & Rogers Drug store.

THE JAPANESE VICTORIES

Two Thousand Chinamen at Wi Ju Pat to Flight.

LONDON, Oct. 12.—A correspondent with the Japanese forces at Wi Ju telegraphs as follows: "The difficulty experienced in transporting our guns and commissariat overland has greatly retarded our advance. The main portion of the advanced column reached Yong Chon on Oct. 4. No sign of the enemy was seen. On the 8th scouts reported that a small Chinese force, under 2,000 men, were still occupying Wi Ju, and a detachment of Japanese infantry and cavalry supported by light artillery was sent to dislodge them. The Chinese offered slight resistance and then fled in disorder across the Yalu river. The Chinese loss was under a hundred.

"Reconnoissances show that the Chinese are in force on the northern bank of the Yalu. The enemy are rapidly building new earthworks and batteries. Their force appears to be strong. The next fight will be serious.

"Field Marshal Count Yamagata, commanding the Japanese, still maintains his base at Ping Yang as being convenient for the securing of supplies by sea. General Nodzu commands the advance forces. It is calculated that we will possess Moukden by the first week in November."

A dispatch from Tokio says that a detachment of Japanese cavalry and infantry on Wednesday made an attack upon and routed a force of 2,000 Chinese at Wi Ju, and that the place remains in the hands of the Japanese.

Says Russia Must Intervene.

ST. PETERSBURG, Oct. 12.—Novosti contends that if the Japanese are victorious they will firmly establish themselves in Korea, proving a constant menace to Russia, while the Chinese will threaten her from Manchuria. As the only means of avoiding this Russia must intervene, send troops to Korea and Manchuria, annex both, extend the Siberian railway to Seoul, attain a firm footing on the Pacific, and conclude her mission of civilizing the semi-civilized countries of Asia.

ROBERT J. THE WINNER

Defeats Patchen in Three Straight Heats.

A Mile in 2:03 1/2.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Oct. 12.—The largest crowd that ever gathered at a similar event in the northwest witnessed the races between the two great pacers, Robert J. and Joe Patchen, at the Interstate fair yesterday. Fully 25,000 people were on the grounds. It was 4:15 o'clock when the king of the turf and his famous rival got off. Patchen took the lead and kept it until into the stretch when Robert J. slowly crept up on him and came under the wire by a short neck in 2:03. In the second heat Robert J. again led, making the second mile in exactly the same time as the first, 2:03.

The last heat was the sensation of the race. The start was a perfect one, the two great pacers starting off nose to nose. Coming into the stretch, Gears let Robert J. out and he came under the wire like a shot, five lengths ahead of Patchen. There was a cyclone of applause when the time was announced, 2:03 1/2, within a second of his recent race record.

Mr. Forget Remembers.

NEW YORK, Oct. 12.—Mr. Forget, agent for the French consular line, testified yesterday that Police Captain Schmittberger had unlawfully accepted $500 from him. Mr. Forget was a witness before the Lexow committee on Tuesday last, but at that time his memory was defective. Most of the day was taken up with evidence concerning police gambling, it being shown that, although there are 600 police shops running in the city, it would be impossible for them to exist without police sanction.

Senator Hill Opens His Campaign.

SYRACUSE, N. Y., Oct. 12.—Senator David Barnett Hill sounded the keynote of his campaign for governor last night in this city, and with his address opened a partisan battle that promises to be historical in the annals of state politics. Some 3,000 people heard Senator Hill speak, and half as many more were unable to gain admission. Senator Hill's reception was most enthusiastic, and although his speech was about 6,000 words in length he held his audience to the finish.

Refused to Take the Oath.

BERLIN, Oct. 12.—Herr Ferdinand Buer, a socialist member of the reichstag, and Herr Doppler, another socialist, both of whom were elected members of the Strausburg provincial council, refused to take the oath of allegiance to the emperor on the ground that it was incompatible with their republican convictions. This is an entirely new departure in the history of social democracy, and will be only too welcome to the clamorous for repressive laws.

INCREASE THE ARMY.

General Schofield Thinks It Extremely Necessary.

A CHAPTER ON STRIKE DISORDERS.

The General of the Army Thinks the President Should Have Power to Increase the Army in Such Cases—The Lesson Taught by Japanese Victories.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 12.—Major General Schofield, general of the army, has made to the secretary of war his report on the operations of the army during the past year. The report is of peculiar interest, both on account of the fact that General Schofield, who has been at the head of the army since the death of General Sheridan, announces his retirement next year, and from the fact that it is principally devoted to a discussion of the necessity for strengthening the military arm of the government to cope with internal disorder as well as possible danger from without, particular reference being made to the Dubs strike.

"During a large part of the year," the report says, "the army has been employed in the suppression of domestic violence, which took the form in many cases of forcible resistance to the execution of the laws of the United States, seizure or destruction of property under the care of United States officers, and open defiance of the national authority.

"These disorders, at first local in their character, spread at length to about one-half in number, and two-thirds in area, of all the states and territories, excluding Alaska. So widespread and formidable an insurrection called for the vigorous action dictated by the president.

"It would seem unnecessary to point out the fact that any force like the militia of a state, or the police of a city, acting principally under another authority, though highly efficient in their appropriate service, cannot be made a reliable instrument for the prompt and effective execution of the laws of the United States. Manifestly, every government should have an adequate force of its own for the execution of its own laws, no less than the judicial and executive officers necessary for the same purpose.

"The country is now for the first time squarely confronted with the necessity of making adequate provision, not only for defense against any possible foreign aggression, but also for defense against domestic violence in the form of forcible resistance to the laws of the United States. A just estimate of these means of defense requires consideration of the vast extent of the United States territory and the great amount of property, widely dispersed throughout this territory, either belonging to the United States or in such condition as to be under the protection of the national government. When these facts are duly considered it becomes manifest that the present strength of the army is not adequate to the performance of the service which may at any time be required. "Such disorders as those which have afflicted the country during the last year do not come suddenly, or unexpectedly. Intelligent observation fully justified the prediction of such troubles a year before they appeared. Coincident with the first indication of coming disorder was a diminution of industrial employment, by which large numbers of honest and faithful laborers were deprived of their accustomed work, and hence sought enlistment in the army. If authority had existed by which the president could have received a few thousand of these men into the ranks they would have become well disciplined, reliable soldiers by the time the troops were called out to suppress mob violence.

"In respect to the military necessities which may possibly arise out of conflict with foreign powers it has for many years seemed impossible to impress upon the people of the United States in general the views entertained by all thoughtful military students. This impossibility appears to have resulted very largely from the national self-esteem which grew out of the results of the great domestic conflict through which the country passed in the period from 1861 to 1865. The condition of the public mind since that time has been that of confident invincibility against any possible foreign attack. However humiliating it may be to this self-esteem, it is nevertheless a simple duty to point to the great military lesson which is now being taught to the entire world.

"The most populous and one of the most wealthy of all the nations of the earth is subjected to extreme humiliation and disgrace, to result possibly in the overthrow of a dynasty, at the hands of a little nation of one tenth its population and about one tenth its territorial area. And why is this? It is not because great people are lacking in talent, or general education, or military courage, but because they have failed to develop their military strength and resources, in which they are far behind the enterprising little military nation that is now teaching them and the world this tremendous lesson.

"The relation of the United States to the great military powers of Europe now exhibits a far greater disparity in respect to preparation for war than that which has existed between China and Japan. While the people of the United States and their representatives have the wisdom to profit by this lesson."

MAGIC OF THE WATER

IRRIGATION IS CHANGING A LARGE PORTION OF THE COUNTRY.

How Best to Utilize the Hitherto Wasted Surplus of the Streams, the Melting Snows, the Spring Rains and the Artesian Supply a Most Interesting Problem.

The long continued and serious droughts of the present year, in even greater degree than the national irrigation convention recently held at Denver, have revived public interest in the problem of turning to agricultural account the vast quantities of available water that are now unutilized as well as that which, with more or less fitfulness, is precipitated upon the cultivated land itself in the form of rain. This water is stored by Dame Nature beneath the surface of the soil, it is furnished in excess by the snows of winter and the rains of spring, and it is allowed to run away through the river channels without rendering a little of its possible service to the agriculturist.

In the solution of the problems of irrigation those who have settled in the arid and subhumid regions of the west have a vital and abiding interest. Their prosperity possesses an exact and permanent ratio to the degree of success which has attended their efforts in this direction. Farmers in these localities who have utilized the underground waters and the surplus of the streams are quite as prosperous as the most favored of their brethren who are blessed with abundant rains—more so, in fact, for the waters applied to the soil by irrigation are under perfect control, and their controllers are not only free from the danger of too little moisture, but they need have no fear of too much.

For them there are no dry seasons to parch the crops, no wet ones to drown them out. Given health and attention to his acres, the agriculturist who has at his command the requisite inches of water is virtually sure of a definite yield. The only uncertainty that besets him has to do with the price of his products. But it is not alone in the far and dry west that irrigation should be studied and practiced. If the farmers of the east and those portions of the middle west in which artificial watering has not heretofore been considered necessary could but adopt a plan of conserving the surplus of the spring rains, to be used during such comparatively rainless seasons as the country has just passed through, and would supplement this system with intelligently conceived, well executed underdrainage, so that the superabundant moisture of midly wet seasons might be carried off, much of the uncertainty of modern farming in the United States would disappear.

This was abundantly demonstrated a few years ago by a well known agriculturist of western New York. His land was disposed along the gentle slope of a rounded hillside. At its brow he built reservoirs, with earthen walls, which retained the water left by the melting snows of the winter and the copious rains of the spring. From these reservoirs he led pipes of tile, sunken a little below the surface. At convenient intervals there were arrangements for turning the water fed through the tiles directly into the soil.

At such points as were not naturally well surface drained he put in underground drains to carry off any surplus that might accumulate from unexpectedly heavy rains. The results of this method of irrigation in a region where irrigation had never before been considered desirable were remarkable. His crops the first year or two after his plans were put in operation were far in advance of those of his neighbors, and much interest was manifested in the reports which were furnished in 1887. Whether since his death, which occurred before the end of the year mentioned, other hands have carried on the experiments is not known to the writer. It would seem that this year's unprofitable experiences of farmers generally would be likely to turn the attention of some one to some plan resembling if not identical with this man's.

The irrigation work already done in California, Utah, Arizona and adjacent mountain states and on the plains is stupendous in its extent, and its results have been extraordinary, even exceeding in many instances the most sanguine expectations of its projectors, for not only has it been found practicable to produce the equivalent of rain just whenever, wherever and as long continued as the farmer may desire, but it has at the ball and heel—even some of the best black stockings. Wash them with Pearline, and you'll have the black color restored. Does that look as though Pearline would "injure the clothes?"

Things like these, hundreds of them, all more or less important, make Pearline the best thing to wash with. Then, on top of that, it saves labor, saves rubbing, saves wear and tear, time and money.

Peddlers and some unscrupulous grocers will tell you "this is as good as," or "the same as Pearline." IT'S FALSE—Pearline is never peddled, and if your grocer sends you something in place of Pearline, be honest—send it back. 433 JAMES PYLE, New York.

"America's Greatest Men and Women."

MR. WILSON TALKS.

MY Name is Wilson; I do an insurance business on LaSalle street, in Chicago Ill., and I live in Evanston, Ill. Evanston is what was originally a scattering population on a pretty point on Lake Michigan, esteemed years ago far from the city of Chicago, but now one of the varied towns which may go within it by vote of the population.

I am married and have a wife and one child. That child is a boy (I suppose I should feel the same solicitude if it was a girl), and I have a father's natural fancies as to what must be the best thing to give that child the right kind of intelligence, and so divert his course that he may succeed in life. I have studied a great deal upon the subject. My own experience would not be of great value, because I have succeeded only to the limit of the average man and am barely established; still, I own the house and lot upon which I live, and am feeling perfectly safe in meeting the exigencies of the year. I want the boy to take a broader view than I did, to be a bigger man in the world. I have studied how to teach him to do that, and he has done pretty well, as far as the preliminaries go. Now, I have thought over what I should say to him and have sometimes been puzzled. I could not very well tell him what to do. I wanted to tell him what I needed, but what I did not learn myself when I was of his age, and what my father did not know how to tell me, or else was not thoughtful enough to do so. I wanted to tell him how to follow the example of those who have succeeded at the present time and under the circumstances which ordinarily affect a young man struggling in this Republic established on this comparatively new world to-day. I wanted to tell him just what he had better do to get along well, and to point out to him what had been done by the people who were successful at the present time.

Of course, the record of the people of any time past would not be of so much value, because circumstances must necessarily have been different when they were alive. I feel confident, though, that if I could learn, some way and somehow, what the people who are so successful to day have done and how they did it, I could give to my boy such advice as would make his own life at least as far removed from failure as justified by the natural ability he may possess.

I looked around for some authority which I might consult in order to give him the facts most essential with this idea of mine in mind, but I could find none until I discovered that a great publishing firm in Chicago had decided to bring out a book giving the photographs of all the people who are prominent in America to-day. Here was what I wanted. The book, as I have learned, is going to be published in 16 parts, 16 pages to each, with a recent photograph on each page of some active leading American man or woman of to-day, while underneath appears the story of that same person's life—the story telling what that person did, and how the ends attained were eventually accomplished. Here was what I wanted; here was what I needed in various ways; here was what I was certainly seeking in order to obtain the information with which to educate my boy and secure for him that knowledge which will give him a source of thought and make him prominent in the world.

I have the first sheets of this work. It is a graphic story of America's Greatest Men and Women, told in each instance on a single page underneath a photograph of recent date, which conveys to the eye an idea of what that person is. To me the photograph tells even more than the suggestive record beneath; and yet it is odd how in each instance the correct story corresponds with the expression upon the face which is reproduced in the portrait above. I do not know how the series will end. I know very little about this new feature of the newspaper people; I know nothing about the publishers and their expectations, but I do know this: that if the series so begun should be continued to its practical, ordinary good sense end—and I don't care whether that will include 200 or 700 of America's Greatest Men and Women, which is the title of the book—I do know this, that for the ordinary, active and alert business man—I will certainly say far more for the student or the literary man, or the politician or the statesman—for all these I will say it will be simply the most valuable and the most remarkable book produced in modern history. The wonder is that some one has not thought of it before. Yet no one seems to have done so since the days of Plutarch. Plutarch knew something. That shrewd old fellow knew that all who would get out of the drift, all who would accomplish great things, wanted to know every detail of the lives of those who had better luck or more courage or a broader brain than their fellows; but I am no authority on these points. I only know that there is produced a second Plutarch's Lives, that its biographies are shrewd, graphic and curt, and written without bias and without prejudice. I only know that there was a Plutarch—God bless the old fellow—and that there is this modern work.

This is the work I am going to give to my boy. I am going to make him read it thoroughly. The work is announced as consisting of 16 Parts, with 16 pages and 16 photographs in each part, and when bound, the whole series will make a great volume of 256 pages, the like of which has never been equaled. It is the story of the personal character of the men and women who are making the nation's history at this particular time. What a work this is! Do you imagine that I would miss it for my boy, or, incidentally, for myself?

also been found that, once moisture has been so supplied, the soil greatly exceeds in fertility that of nearly every region where plentiful rains make irrigation unnecessary. This is because the elements that go to make soil productive are soluble in water and have been largely washed out in humid regions by the rains, which have thus reduced its value for cultivation, making it necessary to replace the elements so taken away by manuring.

In arid parts of Utah, for instance, it has been found by soil analyses that the crop producing ingredients are in excess of those found in the soils of any of the well watered states. The only such soils at all approaching that of Utah in richness are in the Mississippi valley, where, owing to the very level surface of the country, the water does not so rapidly drain, and therefore takes with it a smaller proportion of the valuable elements. What is true in Utah is also true in parts of California and Nevada, Colorado, Arizona, Kansas, Nebraska and elsewhere. In those regions, too, the soil is deeper than in the humid regions, save in the Mississippi valley, for it has not been washed away bodily by running water.

The history of irrigation reaches back almost as far into the dim and distant past as does that of man himself. Old Egypt's greatness was based upon canals and ditches. The farmers of the great empires of ancient Asia, located, many of them, in tracts that were practically rainless, watered their fields so successfully that enormous populations were supported on comparatively narrow areas. It seems probable that without the potent aid of irrigation the old time civilization could never have existed at all. When they declined, so did the art and science of irrigation, for the new civilizations sprang up in Europe and America, in parts of the world where artificial watering was not needed.

When American civilization had subjugated the eastern portion of this great continent and had pushed its way to the desiccated alkali plains of the middle west, it was seen that further progress could be accomplished only by a revival in the ancient practices that had been so beneficial in the orient thousands of years ago. For the first time in history the Anglo-Saxon and Teutonic races were face to face with aridity unhampered by the previous presence of older, more inert races. The manner in which the emergency is being met is one of the most interesting developments in all human progress. The work has been prosecuted in many ways. In some places great reservoirs have been created by the construction of costly dams for the retention of the water of streams flowing from the melting snows and the rains of the mountains. From these reservoirs canals and ditches have been led to the farming lands of the valleys and plains below. In other places the waters of the rivers have been diverted to the same end. In still others the wonderful underground stores of water have been pierced by artesian wells.

Sometimes gushing out at enormous pressure and flowing thousands of gallons a minute, sometimes pumped, their yield has been furnished to the thirsty surface soil. All these methods have been followed by results that are not less than astounding. Land that before irrigation would support only the stunted sagebrush is now utilized for the cultivation of fruits and grains and vegetables, the yield and quality of which exceed anything ever known elsewhere. The price of land, with the water, even in the far west, remote from the great markets of the east, is higher than any other farm land in the country at all removed from the big cities, and those portions of the republic's territory that were thought to be least desirable are now seen to be among the best.

Something like 17,000,000 or 18,000,000 acres are already "under ditch," about 8,000,000 of which are cultivated, in Arizona, California, Colorado, Idaho, Kansas, Montana, Nebraska, Nevada, New Mexico, Oregon, South Dakota, Texas, Utah and Wyoming, to say nothing of artesian irrigation in the United States. It is only fair to state, however, that the development of this form of artificial crop watering is yet in its infancy. In the old world irrigation is carried on on a far greater scale than here, though perhaps not so scientifically. Sixty millions of acres are irrigated in China alone and 30,000,000 in India, the total area outside the United States being 126,550,000 acres. Add 8,000,000 for this country, and the enormous total of 134,550,000 acres is reached. This is equivalent to 210,250 square miles, or a strip of territory two-thirds as wide as Pennsylvania reaching from the Atlantic coast to a point considerably west of Omaha.

It is held by President Elwood Meade of the recent convention and many others that the United States government should make large appropriations for the cause of irrigation. Upon this point there are many who hold opposing views, but there seems to be no question of the great benefit some well considered general plan would be to the arid and semiarid regions. M. I. SECOND ASSEMBLY DISTRICT CONVENTION.

The Democratic electors of the several towns and wards comprising the second Assembly district of the county of Orange, are requested to meet at the place of holding their last respective town and ward meetings for the purpose of electing the delegates to which they are respectively entitled, on the 11th day of October, 1894, at 3 p. m. (unless otherwise ordered by their town or ward committee) to represent them in the Assembly District Convention, to be held at the Assembly Rooms in Middletown on Monday, the 15th day of October, 1894, at 12 o'clock a. m. to nominate a candidate for Assembly for said district.

W. H. CLARK, District
W. H. POULMAN, Committee

DEMOCRATIC COUNTY CONVENTION.

The Democratic County Convention, to place in nomination candidates for county officers, and to transact such other business as may properly be brought before it, will be held at the Court House, in the village of Goshen, Saturday, Oct. 13th, at 12 o'clock noon. The electors of the several towns and wards at the places of holding their last primaries, on Thursday, Oct. 11th, at 2 o'clock in the afternoon, unless otherwise ordered by their town or ward committee, to choose delegates to represent them in convention.

By order Democratic County Committee,
W. H. CLARK, Chairman.

Senator Hill will speak in Kingston, Monday evening.

It is expected that Senator Hill will make a speech in this county during the campaign. The date has not yet been fixed. The meeting will probably be held in Newburgh.

The Democrats of the Eighteenth District, at Kingston, yesterday, nominated Mayor William M. Ketcham, of Poughkeepsie, for Representative in Congress.

Henry McNamee, of Edyville, and Moses McMullen, of Marlborough, were nominated for the Assembly, yesterday, by the Democrats of the First and Second Ulster county districts, respectively.

Eugene S. Ives, who was nominated, yesterday, for Representative in Congress by the Democrats of this Congressional district, lives at Suffern, Rockland county. He is a lawyer in active practice with offices in New York city. He is thirty-five years old, but has had much experience in public life. He represented one of the New York city districts in the State Senate for two terms, having been elected in 1881 and again in 1886. He is the author of the Ives pool tax law, under which hundreds of thousands of dollars have been collected from racing associations, and devoted to the development and encouragement of the agricultural interests of the State, and which has banished the pool rooms with all their corrupting influences from the cities of the State. As a legislator he displayed marked ability and his success in securing the enactment of the Field Code of Procedure in the face of the organized opposition of the Republican majority in the Senate is still remembered in Albany as a triumph of legislative tact and generalship. He is a lawyer of marked ability and has been retained in many important cases. If elected, he will faithfully, intelligently and ably represent the district, and it may safely be predicted of him that he will take high rank among his associates in the national legislature.

The unanimity and enthusiasm with which the Rockland county delegation urged the nomination of Mr. Ives is proof of his strength and popularity where he is best known. He will make an active and aggressive campaign, and will do all that a candidate can rightfully and honorably do to secure an election. He will receive the hearty and enthusiastic support of all Democrats, and of many Republicans who object to boss rule and machine nominations. The result of the contest in this district is not doubtful if every Democrat does his duty from now until election day.

FOR INDUSTRIAL PEACE.

Senator Hill made a magnificent speech at Syracuse, last night, a speech resonant with sound Democratic doctrine, and splendid for its broad and massive statesmanship. He left no issue of the day and the times untouched, but faced them all manfully and masterfully.

Space does not admit of following Senator Hill throughout his long and highly sustained effort, in which, it is not saying too much to declare, there is not a weak spot or place. Every Democrat ought, however, to read it line by line, word by word. This done, there will be no hesitancy as to where the path of duty lies in this campaign. In especial do we commend its perusal to Democrats, if such there be, who have lost faith in their party because of hard times. It tells the story of who made hard times with such array of cold facts and with such convincing argument as carries conviction to Democratic hearts and dismay to Republican defamers.

There is one plea which Senator Hill offers, a plea for "industrial peace," which we commend to men of all political houses, for surely it concerns us all that the country should have rest from further agitation for sweeping tariff changes. Senator Hill points out how certain it is that Republican success means attempted repeal of the existing law and a struggle for reenactment of the McKinley act, means two years of distracting and destructive contention with immeasurable injury to every business interest. But listen to the Senator's own words on this momentous issue, and then ask yourself whether good sense and good patriotism does not call upon you to work for, vote for "industrial peace," for continuation of the new prosperity which the country is now feeling:

It is better for the country. Better for its business interests, better for everybody that no such effort should be made, but that a Democratic House and Senate should be chosen to cooperate with the President in giving the country industrial peace for the next two years.

Those who advocate a different course do so for politics' sake alone, and not for the good of our common country. Relief from tariff agitation at this time, no radical changes in the near future, a fair trial of the existing law before a general revision is again attempted—this is the wise and safe policy which will continue the restoration of prosperity.

A Good Foundation

Is Serviceable Underwear.

AND such is the only kind we have to offer. You may not feel the need of a change just yet, but still a change to a medium weight suit of underwear may be of more value to you than the money it might cost. Your health is all important. Again—Your last year's garments may be whole, and look as if they would last you through this season, but the warmth is washed out and ironed out. Although the bulk may be there, it will not protect you like a new suit.

How much are suits of underwear? We'll tell you this much. Single garments from twenty-five cents up. We handle only such lines as experience has taught us are the best. The best is none too good to place next to the skin. Would you call to see them?

Co-Operative Building Bank.

Home Office 309 Broadway, New York City

Loans money to buy or build homes in amounts from $1,000 to $10,000 to be paid for by monthly installments same as rent.

The Co-Operative Building Bank has nearly 200 branch offices in New York, Connecticut, Pennsylvania, Rhode Island, Maryland and District of Columbia. It now has nearly $700,000 already loaned on first mortgages. $13.67 per month pays for a seven-room house in about nine years. $5 per month invested in the Co-Operative Building Bank Thirty Day Installment Stock, as an investment, will net the holder $1,000 in about nine years.

The above bank has a branch office in Middletown, with offices in Central Building, corner North street and Railroad avenue, and are prepared to loan money immediately on good rentable home property, to buy or build homes, to be paid back by monthly installments same as rent.

The above bank also has local branches established in Bloomingburgh, Warwick, Florida, Unionville, Westtown, Johnson, Slate Hill, Otisville, Port Jervis, Maybrook and Campbell Hall.

OVERCOAT TALK.

That is a timely subject, and as the weather is beginning to bite you are reminded that your old one is not "up to date." You need not be wealthy to be stylishly dressed, as our $5 coats are equal in style to our $20 garments. We are showing good, well made overcoats at $5, either ulsters or double breasted, well lined and serviceable made. For leaders, see our fine Black Kerseys, long cut, at $8, $10, $12, the $12 coat we sold last year at $15. For the boys, we start our overcoats at $1.25, and are showing some exclusive styles. We have made a counter for last year's coats, and will virtually give them away. See if you can't get one. Boys' Reaters $1.90 up.

A NEW MANUFACTURING ENTERPRISE.

The Clear Box Factory of Whitelock & Coe to be removed to this city from Newburgh.

Mr. E. H. Whitelock, of Newburgh, a member of the firm of Whitelock & Co., manufacturers of cigar boxes, has been in town completing arrangements for the removal of the factory and business of the firm from that village to this city.

The firm has leased the second floor of the soap factory on North street, and in addition to the machinery to be brought here from Newburgh, will put in a new steam engine and much new machinery, it being their purpose to carry on business on a much more extensive scale than heretofore.

Mr. Whitelock has been in the cigar box making business at Newburgh for several years and has built up a large trade. He has earned for himself the reputation of being an honorable business man. Mr. Coe, who has interests in New York city, will take no active part in the management of the factory.

The machinery in the Newburgh factory will be brought to this city at once and Mr. Whitelock has rented a house which he will occupy with his family. The factory at the start will give employment to a number of hands and the force will be increased as the business grows and develops.

OBITUARY.

Charles F. H. D. Chatterton.

Charles F. H. D. Chatterton, a well known theatrical man and a brother of Signor Perugini, Lillian Russell's last husband, died, Wednesday, at Frenon, Eng., of consumption. Mr. Chatterton was drug clerk at the State Hospital in this city for several years and had many friends in this city.

Howard Sears.

From our Montgomery correspondent

Mr. Howard Sears, of New York, a nephew of Mr. W. E. Sears, of this town, died at his home, Saturday. The remains were brought here for interment and buried in the Presbyterian Church yard, Tuesday afternoon. Mr. Sears, who visited at his uncle's home during the summers, made many friends here who mourn at the news of his death. He leaves a wife and one child.

A PORT JERVIS RENT CASE.

Landlord Hubbard Must Repay Tenant's Brown's $25.

The case of Brown vs. Hubbard, which was tried before Justice Wiggins and a jury, yesterday, resulted in a verdict for $25 for the plaintiff, the full amount claimed. Brown, who is a traveling clothing dealer, rented a store in Port Jervis, telling the landlord, Hubbard, that he intended to open a hardware store, and paid $25 for one month's rent in advance. When the goods arrived it was found that Brown intended to open a clothing store, and as there was a store of that kind already in the building Hubbard refused to allow him to put the goods in the store and also refused to return the money, alleging that he had lost a tenant by Brown's action.

Wyker Delegates Elected in Warwick.

A telephone message from Warwick is to the effect that at the Democratic caucus held there, this afternoon, delegates were elected to the Assembly Convention, who favor the nomination of W. H. Wyker, Esq., of Goshen.

To Spend the Winter in Europe.

Mr. and Mrs. D. C. McMonagle have purchased tickets by the North German Lloyd line and will sail from New York, Oct. 27th, on the Kaiser Wilhelm II, for Genoa. They expect to spend the winter in the south of Europe.

De Lunatic Inquiring.

Julia Knickerbocker, of Rockland county, for three years a patient at the State Hospital, was declared a lunatic, yesterday, in proceedings before a commissioner and a sheriff's jury, at the office of Daniel Finn.

When Others Fail.

Hood's Sarsaparilla builds up the shattered system by giving vigorous action to the digestive organs, creating an appetite and purifying the blood. It is prepared by modern methods, possesses the greatest curative powers, and has the most wonderful record of actual cures of any medicine in existence. Take only Hood's.

Hood's Pills are purely vegetable, and do not purge, pain or gripe. 25c.

THE GENUINE STREET TRAGEDY.

No New Development—The Whole Story Told in Monday's "Argus."

There are no new developments in the Genuing street tragedy, and there are not likely to be any. Just now it looks as if the story published in Monday's Argus was about all there was of it.

Ed Doran could doubtless tell more than he has of the doings in the early morning hours, but it isn't likely that he will voluntarily, and there is no way to make him do it that we know of, and therefore we believe that the public will never know any more regarding the affair than was published in the Argus on Monday.

The finding of the missing cartilage in the box in which Tierney's body was taken to Dougherty & Reilly's undertaking rooms, is a strong confirmation of the Argus's theory that Tierney, frenzied with jealousy, after an all night vigil, in which he saw and heard many things which tended to increase his suspicions of his wife's infidelity and inflamed his passions, shot his wife and then ended his own life.

There are several witnesses yet to be examined, but if we are correctly informed their testimony will add only confirmation to the theory of murder and suicide.

—Register, to-morrow.

RACES AT THE DRIVING PARK.

A Trotting Meeting to be Held on Oct. 30th.

The directors of the Middletown Fair and Driving Park Association held a meeting at the office of Wood & Baldwin, Wednesday evening, at which it was decided to hold a one day trotting meeting on Tuesday, Oct. 30. There will be three races, with purses as follows:

2:28 CLASS.

Both trotters and pacers. Purse, $100.

2:40 CLASS.

Both trotters and pacers. Purse, $100.

GENTLEMEN'S ROAD RACE.

Open only to horses without records. Purse, $50.

The entries will close Oct. 25th.

Congressional County Committee.

After the nomination of Eugene S. Ives, yesterday, the following Congressional committee was appointed by the convention:

The following Congressional Committee was appointed:

—Rockland—A. E. King, Thos. Finnegan.

Sullivan—Isaac Post, Edward Branning.

Orange, First District—James Scott, F. A. Willard.

Orange, Second District—W. D. Stratton, Benj. Ryall.

The following committee was appointed to notify Mr. Ives of his nomination: Chas. M. Vail, C. S. Starr, F. P. Demarest.

—Register, to-morrow.

Police Pick Ups.

The police found a dinner pail on Frank's corner, last night. The owner can have it by applying to Capt. Grier.

A peanut roaster was also taken in by the police, the proprietor having forgotten to take it in his store, last night.

—Register, to-morrow.

Before the Recorder.

—One tramp was given a night's lodging and run out of town, this morning.

—Two complaints against boys for malicious mischief were lodged in Police Court. The boys promised better behavior in the future and were discharged.

—Register, to-morrow.

George Dixon on Fulton Street.

George Dixon, the colored pugilist, whose company appears at the Casino, to-night, drifted naturally to Fulton street soon after his arrival in town. He has spent the afternoon there, admired and envied by the "men and brethren" and adored by all the dusky belles.

Card of Thanks.

The family of the late Thomas M. Hyatt wish to express their many thanks to their friends and neighbors, also to Gen. Lyon Post and Jackson Post for their assistance and sympathy in our recent bereavement.

MARY E. HYATT.

Middletown, Oct. 11, 1894.

—You must register in person or you cannot vote. Attend to it, to-morrow.

Given a Great Send Off.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank M. Stratton were given a great send off when they boarded Erie train 8, last evening. About 200 of their friends were at the depot with rice enough to make a pudding for every family in town and it was thrown around and upon them. A number of torpedos, which had been placed upon the rails, exploded as the train pulled out.

INCIDENTS AND HAPPENINGS IN GOSHEN.

Late Fall Blossoms—To Leave Goshen—To Renovate His Store—Dikeman Hose Co.'s Drill—First Day of Registration—Mr. Wyker's Candidacy.

From Our Regular Correspondent.

—Your correspondent was shown some full blown blossoms picked from a plum tree, this morning. The tree bore fruit this season and is well started toward furnishing a second crop.

—Dr. Hitchcock contemplates leaving this village soon. He has disposed of his fine carriage team to Dr. Seward, of New Jersey.

—W. D. VanVliet will renovate and fix up his furniture store on Main street. He will auction off a large quantity of furniture at St. John's Hall, Oct. 18th, to make room for the alterations.

—Dikeman Hose Co. is drilling under the instruction of Mr. Chas. Wright and Goshen will have the pleasure of claiming two well drilled companies next season.

—Saturday, Oct. 20th, not 29th, as the types made my correspondence read, last night, is the first day of registration in this town.

—Delegates favorable to W. H. Wyker, for Member of Assembly, were elected in Greenville, yesterday. Mr. Wyker is gaining ground every day and his nomination seems assured.

Arranging for the Entertainment of Middletown Firemen.

From the Newburgh News.

Charles B. Hyde will furnish dinner and supper for the members of Highland Steamer and those of Phoenix Engine Company, of Middletown, on the day of the firemen's parade. The meals will be served at the house of Highland Steamer, at West Newburgh.

"Why Is He So Irritable?"

This question is often heard and nearly as often unanswered.

It is not always remembered, as it should be, that the occasion of ill temper and irritability is often to be found in the physical condition of the persons affected. What is the use of trying to "harmonize" a man whose liver has gone back on him? If a man is tortured with rheumatism, how can he be expected to be affable and agreeable? Can a confirmed dyspeptic be expected to be cheerful and always ready to tell a funny story? The only way to remove the difficulty is to get at the cause. Dyspepsia, rheumatism, impure blood and liver troubles yield to Hood's Sarsaparilla; this is why it is an effective tranquilizer, a peaceful messenger, and a preventive of domestic quarrels.

A YOUNG GIRL'S FORTUNE.

AN INTERESTING SKETCH.

Nothing appeals so strongly to a mother's affection as her daughter just budding into womanhood. Following is an instance: "Our daughter, Blanche, now 15 years of age, had been terribly afflicted with nervousness, and had lost the entire use of her right arm. She was in such a condition that we had to keep her from school and at home, her music lessons. In fact, we feared St. Vitus dance, and she was positive that for an invaluable remedy she would have had that terrible affliction. We had consulted physicians, but she received no benefit from them. The first of last August she weighed but 75 pounds, and although she has taken only three bottles of Nervine she now weighs 110 pounds; her nervousness and symptoms of St. Vitus dance are entirely gone. She attends school regularly and studies with comfort and ease. She has recovered complete use of her arm, her appetite is splendid, and no more need you use for our daughter the health or life of a young girl."—Mrs. R. R. THE ANGLOMANIC PLAGUE.

Indignant Protest of an American Over the Marring of Our Language.

It is strange, but so, that the English don't know how to speak what they call their own language. If they do, they don't know how to spell it. I am not referring now to the "lower" classes, who take such unwarranted liberties with the letter "h," but rather to the titled trash—the bedizened deadbeats who drag at the tinsel tail of a rotten soi disant royalty.

To prove my point that they are strangers to a tongue they call their own, I will cite an illustration or so. For instance, they call Lord Cholmondeley "Lu-Chumley;" London they pronounce "Lunnon;" Park Mall, "Poll Mell;" Berkshire, "Barkshire;" and so on, on and on.

They never have known and never will know how to pronounce the letter "a." They talk of "dawning" and "prawning" and "glawncing" and don't for a moment comprehend that they are making "awsses" of themselves thereby.

Then, in their ignorance of the linguistic properties, they speak of a locomotive engineer as a "driver," of the fireman as a "stoker," of baggage checks as "brawsses," and so forth.

When they want a bath, they tell you they believe they will take a "tub." They spell color, honor and like words with a highly unnecessary u in the last syllable.

I have only cited a few of their blunders, but if I had the space to mention a tenth of them I could fill a whole volume without half trying.

I wouldn't take the time or trouble to write this article if it wasn't for the fact that certain Anglomaniacs "school-mawms" and "school-mawsters" in our own United States are teaching English pronunciation to American pupils. This is an evil that ought to be strangled right off, beginning with this very day. No man or woman is fit to be a teacher who mars the beauty of our cosmopolitan language by twisting it out of shape after the fashion of your "Henglish miluds."

I say "our cosmopolitan language," and I mean it. There is no such thing as an English language. Four-fifths of the words we use, even in everyday speech, were drawn from Latin and other vocabularies non-English. I am sick—sick—to quassness with all claims to the contrary.

Speaking of Anglomaniac school-teachers, I see of late that they have introduced another British fad into their schools—that of teaching boys how to knit, sew and perform other purely feminine tasks. If you doubt it, just drop into a primary schoolroom at Hastings-on-Hudson or at any other place on the banks of that historic stream. I presume, if the British school "mawms" and "mawsters" should order their boys to wear petticoats, the Anglomaniac pedagogues on this side of the water would compel our bright, lively, progressive young Americans to wear petticoats too.

The New York authorities ordered a general vaccination to prevent the spread of smallpox. Would to heaven high there could be a general vaccination of some kind to prevent the further spread of the Anglomaniac plague! Will Hubbard-Kernan.

DUNNING BY POSTAL CARD.

A Decision at Baltimore Which Permits This Awful Thing to Be Done.

United States Commissioner Bond of Baltimore has dismissed the complaint against a man who was charged with dunning by postal card. In speaking of this decision the Baltimore News says: "The results of this decision are already apparent and are very far-reaching. Every man who owes a debt and every man whom some one else claims to owe a debt is now likely to receive postal cards galore a king him to pay up, and pay up promptly. Until he does pay up he need not be surprised to find a gentle postal reminder waiting for him on his desk each morning.

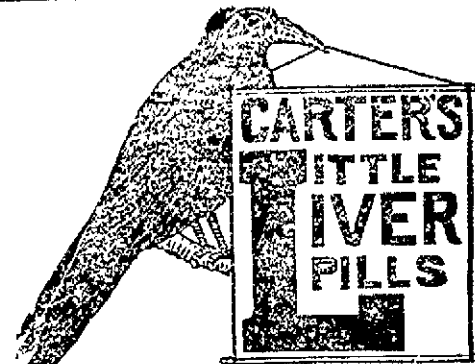

"Nay, that is not the only terror awaiting him under this decision of Commissioner Bond. He may find postal cards beside his plate each morning when he comes down to breakfast. If he happens to live in a boarding house, he may find his curious fellow boarders glancing with interest at a printed statement that he owes his tailor for that last handsome suit of his that has been so much admired and will be kindly call and settle."

Asleep on the Bottom of the River.

A strange incident in connection with the work of clearing away the debris of the recently wrecked bridge at Louisville is related of the submarine diver whose duty it is to descend to the bottom of the river and fasten chains about the heavy ironwork, besides placing dynamite charges in spots where the most desirable results may be had. Yesterday he remained beneath the surface for more than an hour. There was no response when signals were made, and there was uneasiness felt. At length the diver who goes on as a relief reported for duty, and he was at once sent down to ascertain what was wrong. In a few minutes both men came up. The diver was found to be fast on a pile of iron fast asleep.—Marine Journal.

The Silver Dollar's Centennial.

The silver dollar of Uncle Sam will celebrate the centennial anniversary of its birthday upon Oct. 15 next. On July 18, 1794, the Bank of Maryland deposited at the Philadelphia mint French coins of the value of $50,715 for coinage into silver dollars under the act of 1793. The first lot of these first dollar coins was delivered on Oct. 15, 1794. There were 1,758 of them in all, and they were the precursors, the first waves of the vast flood tide of silver dollars that has poured into the country during the hundred years that have elapsed. Truly the Sherman purchasing agent has been a timely hand and a proper celebrator of the centennial of the dollar of our daddies.—Philadelphia Record.

THEIR NOVEL HONEYMOON.

Beating Their Way on Trains From Chicago to the Pacific Coast.

Three weeks ago last Saturday, while one of the railroad boys was inspecting cars that had been sent out here, he discovered that one of them was occupied. Supposing again of hobos were concealed in the car, he slid the door open and said, "Well, how many of you are in there?" A fairly dressed young man replied, "Only my wife and me."

The railroad man was astonished and swung himself up into the car, expecting to find that he was being fooled. He found, however, lying on some pieces of burlap in one corner of the car, a woman. The man in the car spoke to her, saying, "Well, they are onto us, and we'll have to get out." The woman arose and presented a neat, ladylike appearance. The couple were taken into the waiting room, where the man produced his marriage certificate, which gave the names of the couple and stated that they were married in Chicago July 10, 1894. The young man then told his story, which is in substance as follows:

He was at work and had saved up a few dollars. They were married and had bought $150 worth of furniture on the installment plan and gone to house-keeping. During the strike he had lost his place. He still owed $30 on the furniture, and the dealer, finding that the fellow was out of a job, came around and took the furniture away, leaving the couple in the bare rooms. Plans were talked over at once, and it was decided to make the trip out west, and on the evening of Aug. 7, at 9:30 o'clock, the young people jumped on the platform of a blind baggage and rode out of the Union depot at Chicago for California, having only $5 in money to make the trip. On platforms and in box cars they made Ogden, where they succeeded in capturing the car that brought them here.

The young fellow is about 26 years of age and the girl three or four years younger. Both were intelligent and good looking. While telling his experience the young fellow looked at the girl and said, "She is a game little woman." On the evening of the day of their arrival here they were seen to dart across the platform hand in hand, and it is presumed that they got out on No. 4, which was just pulling out.—Reno Journal.

MEISSONIER'S HOUSE.

He Hoped It Would Become a Museum, but It Is Being Pulled Down.

Meissonier's house in Paris, built on his own designs, in the Place Melesherbes, in front of Gustave Doré's monument of Alexander Dumas, is about to be pulled down in order to make way for a six story building, and the work of demolition is already begun. The house was somewhat in the style of the renaissance and seemed a standing reproach to the vulgarity of modern architecture around it. A conception of the most refined taste, it was unlike any modern house and was neither eccentric nor conspicuous. It looked the abode of an artist and a wealthy man, but not assertively so. Its windows toward the street, scarcely more than loopholes, suggested inner windows opening on a court which, judging from the exterior, must be a renaissance cortile. This gave an impression of indifference, perhaps slightly contemptuous, of the outer world and of a comfortable seclusion not so much of the hermit as of the satisfied bourgeois.

Meissonier hoped that his house would become a museum. He wrote: "My hotel was built for a museum. This is apparent to any visitor. My descendants might live there as tenants and curators." Another time he wrote: "I hope that the treasures of art in my studio will never be sold. I hope that my son will give them to the state. I believe this is his wish as well as my own. I am sure that he will feel too much love and respect for his father's work ever to dispose of it. I trust he will turn this house into a little museum."—London Exchange.

Ghost Statistics.

The English Society of Psychological Research has issued a sort of "census of spooks." The society has been asking as many persons as it could reach this question in more technical language, "Have you ever seen a ghost?" Out of 17,000 persons interrogated 15,316 answered in the negative, leaving only a meagre 9 per cent of people who had been favored by extraordinary experiences. But the relative proportion of men and women who saw visions and dreamed dreams is more remarkable. Only 655 males answered in the affirmative, but there were 1,029 females. Mr. Balfour, who is president of the society, is the leading ghost hunter and golf player as well as the greatest connoisseur of the finest ghost stories in this interesting census and makes an earnest appeal to scientific men to drop their attitude of "bigoted intolerance" and face the mass of strange phenomena which the society has gathered so conscientiously.

Foreign Blood Helping France.

The conscripts who will take their places in the French army this coming November are said to be much taller men than any batch of recruits during the last five years. The reason given for this increase in size is that by the new law all sons of a foreign father and of a French mother who are born in France are looked upon as Frenchmen and liable to service in the army. Our authority for this statement is Le Gaulois, but it cannot be very gratifying to French pride to have it acknowledged that the few hundred foreigners thus pressed into the French army can so sensibly raise the standard of the recruits.—London Sun.

Parisian English.

A Paris correspondent for a London print speaks of Marie Bashkirtseff as "the talented young Russian lady painter and authoress." A "lady authoress" is bad enough, but a "lady painter" must be little short of a monster.

MARY A. TUPPER

IN A WOMAN'S PRISON.

Restored to Her Husband at Wilton, Me., After Months of Suffering.

(SPECIAL TO OUR LADY READERS.)
Women's prisons are not always built of iron bars and solid masonry. It is easy to shut women up from the beautiful, joyous world without these means.

Mrs. Mary A. Tupper has been released at Wilton, Me., from the custody of extreme female weakness and nervousness which kept her a prisoner in bed, unable to walk.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound went to the root of her trouble, and gave her the liberty of health, so that after taking two bottles she was able to go out of doors and surprise her husband and friends by her rapid improvement.

She says: "Women should beware of dizziness, sudden faintness, backache, extreme lassitude and depression. They are danger signals of female weakness, or some derangement of the uterus or womb. Take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and be thankful for your life as I am. It only costs a dollar to try it and the result is worth millions. Ask some druggist about it."
